Accounting BSBA

The Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (BSBA) program prepares students for entry-level positions in public accounting, management accounting, and financial management. Students learn the basics of accounting theory and practice while exploring how accounting connects to other business fields such as financial analysis, operations management, and information technology.

Highlighted Degrees

Accounting

Business Analytics MS

The Business Analytics Master of Science (MS) program is a STEM Designated Degree Program in which students may be eligible to extend their visas upon graduation through Optional Practical Training (OPT). This MS program is designed to give students a strong understanding of the fundamentals of analytics so they can advance in their careers in the growing "big data" business culture. It is a 30-credit hour program consisting of 7 core courses, 2 electives, and an application-based, broadly integrated, capstone course.

Sample courses include:

- Strategic Business Analytics
- Data Visualization
- Predictive Modeling

Architectural Design + Technology BS

The Architectural Design & Technology BS program is a STEM Designated Degree Program in which students may be eligible to extend their visas upon graduation through Optional Practical Training (OPT). This undergraduate degree prepares students for a variety of careers in architecture and construction.

Sample courses include:

- Building Systems for Architectural Design
- Architectural Computer Modeling and Rendering
- Design of Steel Structures for Architectural Design
- Construction Management

Students have recently interned at NASA, Pratt & Whitney, and Turner. Top employers include Crosskey Architects, FIP Construction, Tecton Architects, and Walt Disney Imagineering.

Acoustical Engineering and Music BS

The Acoustical Engineering and Music BS degree is a unique combination of engineering and music, delivered by the College of Engineering, Technology & Architecture and The Hart School. The program teaches students about the science of sound and how it is produced, how it travels, and how it can be detected. Students are prepared to enter graduate school or pursue professional careers in Audio Engineering, Architectural Acoustics, Musical Acoustics, Noise Control and Sound Quality, and Bio-Engineering.

The Class of 2019 had 100% job placement (or graduate school acceptance) following graduation from Acoustical Engineering & Music BS and Mechanical Engineering (Acoustics Concentration) BS programs.

Performing Arts Management BA

The Performing Arts Management BA gives students the career skills needed to succeed in the performing arts field within the commercial music business. Students can concentrate in many different areas, such as the recording industry, touring, arts marketing, fundraising, for- and non-profit management, and entrepreneurial studies. With classroom discussions, guest speakers, case studies, and assignments, students will learn about problems in this industry, and they’ll also attend conferences and go on field trips to Connecticut arts institutions, as well as those in Boston and New York. An internship is required as part of this degree program. Graduates are prepared for careers in talent agencies, recording studios, performing arts centers, and artist management companies, as well as professional dance and theatre companies.

Students have recently completed internships at The Bushnell Center for the Arts, Live Nation, City Parks Foundation, Tanglewood, and Motema Records.

Instrumental Performance, BMus & MA

The Instrumental Performance Bachelor of Music (BMus) degree is a comprehensive program designed for the student whose goal is to be a professional performer. Students can choose to focus on performance concentrations in guitar, instrumental, or piano. Students will learn contract negotiation, making a recording, stage presentation, preparation for orchestra auditions, and repertoire selection.

Courses include:

- Communicating with an Audience
- Building a Music Career
- Orchestral Repertoire Class

Graduate students participate in many performance, educational, and professional development opportunities. An emphasis in Suzuki Pedagogy is available, led by internationally acclaimed Suzuki Association of the Americas (SAA) teacher trainers. Instrumental Performance graduate students may concentrate in any of the following instruments: Bassoon, Cello, Clarinet, Double Bass, Euphonium, Flute, Guitar, Oboe, Harp, Percussion, Piano, Saxophone, Trombone, Tuba, Violin.

Vocal Performance, BMus & MA

The Vocal Performance BMus degree prepares students for careers as professional performers or vocal teachers or to pursue graduate school. All vocal students study privately with a member of The Hart School’s eminent vocal faculty, working on technique and repertoire.

The work put into private practice, weekly coaching and seminars, and voice lessons culminate in performance of the Undergraduate Recital Series, fully staged operas, and choir concerts.

Courses include:

- Vocal Study (32 credits of applied voice lessons)
- Opera Performance
- Ear Training

The graduate program from Vocal Performance is designed for mature students with advanced vocal training and academic study in preparation for careers as professional performers and teachers. The degree includes solo opportunities in choral and orchestral concerts.

Courses include:

- Private Voice Instruction
- Vocal Coaching
- Vocal Literature

The Graduate Vocal Seminar prepares pre-professional students to audition for young artist programs, opera, and oratorio concerts, as well as performances in two graduate recital per year. ELI and IPP students may start taking music lessons at the beginning of their ELI or IPP coursework.

Music Management BMus

The Music Management BMus degree prepares students to pursue careers in music and business. Playing an instrument or being a vocal artist is required for entrance into this program. Students can choose classical, jazz, or commercial music concentrations. The curriculum includes training in music theory, piano and keyboard, and music history, as well as weekly one-hour lessons and coaching sessions with teachers in the performance area, in combination with arts management and business courses to give them career-ready skills to enter the industry. An internship is required as part of this program.

Students have recently completed internships at Jim Henson Studies, the American Ballet Theatre, Blue Note Records, The Newport Music Festival, and Gamelon and Sony Records.

Music is definitely an international language, and ever since the beginning of The Hart School, we’ve had people from all over the world here. The mix of students is really important to their development because of the age in which we live, a global society.

DR. LARRY ALAN SMITH DEAN, THE HART SCHOOL
The International Pathway Program (IPP) is open to students who need to strengthen their English skills before studying a degree program in the USA.

Each semester you will take a combination of Hartford academic courses (credited) and English courses (non-credit). Course options are dependent upon the required pathway. Once you have reached the required English level, you can progress to your program at the University of Hartford.
